

"HONORING HEROES OF WORLD WAR 2"

We were honored to have Michael Reagan, the son of President Ronald Reagan attend and talk about and sign his latest book, "Lessons My Father Taught Me" He and his colleagues, Jay Hoffman and Doug Stebleton discussed and showed their recent film

"HEROES OF WORLD WAR 2"

Several World War 2 heroes from the Normandy Invasion and the South Pacific area were hosted and interviewed. Their stories and accomplishments are amazing. Their ages ranged from 92-98 and they are still active in their families and community. We resented each hero with a certificate of appreciation and thanks. We need to preserve this history. They gave so much to allow us to maintain our liberty and freedom.

The Westlake Village Inn was the perfect venue for this heartwarming event. All who attended were so honored to meet these heroes from our past.

Michael Reagan signing his latest book, "Lessons My Father Taught Me"

Pledge of Allegiance

Michael Reagan at the microphone

Jay Hoffman, Beatrice Restifo, Rosemary Licaa, and Doug Stebleton

Shannon O'Shea and hero, Elmo Maiden